The 15th Annual Wildlife Symposium is right around the corner!

The event is at the NCSU College of Veterinary Medicine in Raleigh on January 21 - 22, 2017.

Would you like to attend, but can't afford to? Apply for a "Wanda Angel Scholarship!" Scholarships, that cover the symposium attendance fee and hotel lodging, are available for WRI members with a financial need. To apply, send an email explaining how you expect to benefit from the symposium and why financial assistance to attend is needed. Send the email to Secretary Michele Poe at michelepoe@yadtel.net no later than midnight on December 15, 2016. Please include "Symposium Scholarship" in the subject line of your email. Awardees may be expected to share information about the symposium once they return.

Individuals receiving the award in the past may apply again, but if there are more than two applicants, preference will be given to individuals who have not been awarded the scholarship before.
